

AP Spanish Language and Culture – SUMMER 2024

First, welcome to SUMMER! We are looking forward to meeting you (or to teaching you again) once we get back to school in the fall. Until then, please summer well – relax, recharge, find somewhere to serve, take some time to read for fun, and try to go to bed before 2 am at least a few times.

Second, we are hopeful that you are ready for the challenges that AP Spanish may present. We will step away from the traditional structure that you may have become accustomed to in your other Spanish language classes, but we will continue to push you to grow as a Spanish speaker, writer, reader, and listener.

Please take some time throughout the summer to complete the following tasks. These will give you a little bit of a glimpse into some of the things we will tackle together next school year. Don't cut corners – you'll learn that we're not really interested in just "checking the boxes" but more interested in how you improve through what you're doing. So jump in – and find some things that interest you!

YOUR TASK: READ / VIEW SPANISH CONTENT WEEKLY and create a hand-written writeup that contains:

- Title and source (website, magazine, Netflix, etc – including date of publication)
- A 4 sentence summary in Spanish (DO NOT USE ANY OUTSIDE RESOURCES FOR WRITING IN SPANISH) – include details
- At least one idea that compares or contrasts with something in your own culture / experience

This activity won't have the same effect if you wait and cram them all the week we return to school. So set an alarm for every Tuesday (or whatever day you prefer) and find an article, podcast, episode, experience or movie to read or watch in Spanish.

THESE SHOULD BE ABOUT THINGS HAPPENING IN or RELATED TO THE SPANISH-SPEAKING WORLD.

You will complete at least 10 of these writeups.

- At least 4 should be print / internet articles (of at least 200 words each)
- At least 4 should be TV / audio / video sources (preferably NOT English content dubbed or subtitled)
- If you travel to a Spanish speaking country or interact with native speakers, you can document that experience to include

DUE DATE: All work is due by the 5th day of class in the fall – This will be the first summative grade for the semester.

If you have any questions, email emily.humphrey@gcpsk12.org or sherome.edwards@gcpsk12.org – but remember, it is summer. ☺

AS ALWAYS WITH THE INTERNET AND NETFLIX, EXERCISE CAUTION WHEN VIEWING CONTENT.
