Media Matters

I would like to welcome you to the ALES Media Center! Here I will keep you updated on the happenings in our library.

Last week we started orientations and book check out. The rest of the classes should come this week. Each teacher has a specific day to come to the MC. Be aware of which day your child comes so that you can help them bring their books back. Discuss with your student a routine for them to remember to put their books in their backpack the night before.

I look forward to sharing many wonderful stories with your students this year!
